

Some companies are really on the ball.

WebEx has shown the world a new way to do business—conduct live meetings on the Web. A fast-growing list of companies are partnering with WebEx to integrate real-time data, voice and video communications services into their sites.

WebEx has made meeting online simple by delivering the service through a standard browser. We made it cost-efficient by offering services by subscription. And we made it ultimately reliable and secure by assembling an ultra-high performance global network.

Isn't it time your company got on the ball? Visit webex.com to learn how great minds meet online @ webex.com

